Policies

Music is in and of itself a disciplined art. Just as a composer must have quiet, orderly surroundings if they are to write great music, musicians must rehearse in the proper climate if they are to concentrate sufficiently to learn to play good music in a professional manner. It is my intention to make rehearsal procedures, conduct regulations, and other requirements known to all members of the ensemble so that they will understand the kind of behaviour that is expected of them. Both students and the director have the right to perform in a well disciplined, respectful ensemble.

Rehearsal Procedures

- Warm-up: students should warm their instruments quietly at the beginning of each rehearsal.
- Self-discipline and respect: No talking or "noodling" when the director is talking or demonstrating something. Never talk while the ensemble is playing.
- Neatness: Keep the music room neat and clean. Deposit all garbage in one of the garbage cans provided.
- Listen: Always listen to yourself and others while you are playing so that your tone will be beautiful in quality and well in tune.
- Practice at home: Always work out individual parts in private practice sessions. Ensemble rehearsals should be devoted entirely to acquiring musicianship and artistry. Make sure you are always striving for an outstanding performance.

Attendance

A note from home is required for any absence, including both illness and school activities. The note must include the date and reason for absence. Any unexcused absences will result in a loss of 2% from your participation mark, for each one unaccounted for. You will not be hounded for absence notes. If you have to be absent from a class for sports or at the request of another teacher, you must speak to me first. Participation through regular attendance is essential. All courses, whether on the timetable or not, are credit courses and will be graded. Concerts are considered term finals even though they occur in the evenings (as well as school times and afternoons). Attendance for the entire concert is mandatory except in the case of bereavement or serious illness/injury. Concert dates are listed below. In the event of a conflict, we can try to remedy the problem but I require plenty of notice.

Concert Dates

Tuesday, November 2, 2021 and Tuesday, January 18, 2022. Both concerts start at 6:30pm in the Byng Theatre

Punctuality

Students are expected to arrive on time. Arriving late is extremely disruptive to the entire class as the student must find his/her own chair amongst those students already playing. 1% will be given for promptness and participation in the entire warmup for each class. Bonus marks will be given to those who are on time for all classes.

Assignments

It is your responsibility to practice the work assigned by the director outside of class time. It is suggested that 1 hour (or more) a day be set aside for this purpose. Not all of this time needs to be playing the instrument. Reading and theory exercises can be included in this time. Students will be observed and graded in class to see whether or not they have been practicing the correct material.

Costs:

There is a $40.00 music fee which will go directly to the purchase of new music and music supplies for the department, benefitting all students. This includes the Essential Elements Book 1, a pair of drum sticks, and practice pad. Lord Byng collects fees through School Cash Online at: <http://vsb.schoolcashionline.com> . Students and parents are encouraged to enroll by registering online. School Cash Online is our school's PREFERRED method of payment.

Due to COVID-19 and our new semester system, the instrument choices have been reduced to maximize students interaction time with the teacher. During COVID-19, flutes without masks have been shown to have the greatest risk of spreading infection. The teacher needs to observe how the students play without masks blocking the view of the students' embouchures (mouth area muscles). Therefore, instrument choice will be limited to the following five options: clarinet, alto sax, trumpet, trombone, and euphonium. All students will be percussionists for part of each class and will be supplied with a pair of drumsticks.

Obtaining an Instrument:

There are four ways to acquire a band instrument.

1. Rent or Rent-to-own an instrument: Rental is the most popular method of acquiring a band instrument and is the method I recommend. A substantial portion, or all, of the rent you have paid to the music store will be applied to the purchase-price if you decide to buy the instrument at a later date. You should be aware that the overall cost of this method is greater than simply purchasing the instrument in the beginning, but renting provides more flexibility. The school does rent instruments but no option of purchasing is available.

2. Purchase a new or used instrument from a store: These instruments come with a guarantee. Purchasing the instrument outright is the least expensive method of buying an instrument, considerably cheaper in overall cost than renting-to-own. Most stores will actually buy back the instrument from you later, less the appropriate rental fee, if a change of course or changed instrument is desired.

3. Purchase a used instrument from a private party: Instrument should be properly serviced in time for the first band class in September.

4. Borrow: Instrument should be properly serviced in time for the first band class in September.

Students are expected to rent or purchase their own instrument from a music company if they do not already have one available. I suggest you order your instrument and the required supplies online from our local music store, Tapestry Music, and they will deliver it to the school for you. This will be the easiest and quickest way to get started.

Also, here's a short video explaining what to do:

If the cost is a problem, please notify the school and we will try to arrange an alternative. Larger and more expensive instruments (ex. euphoniums) may be borrowed from the school while supplies last. The cost is $ 130.00 for the year. I will notify each student if he/she will be playing one of these larger instruments.

The following supplies should be purchased when you obtain the instrument (if you order through Tapestry Music, this can be done online with the instrument order):

Clarinets: swab, mouthpiece brush, cork grease, and a box of 10 Reeds #2

Saxophones: a pull through swab (not a pad saver), mouthpiece brush, cork grease, and a box of 10 Reeds #2

Trumpets: snake, mouthpiece brush, slide grease, and valve oil

Trombones: snake, mouthpiece brush, slide cream and spray bottle

Euphoniums: snake, mouthpiece brush, slide grease, and valve oil
