Policies

Music is in and of itself a disciplined art. Just as a composer must have quiet, orderly surroundings if they are to write great music, musicians must rehearse in the proper climate if they are to concentrate sufficiently to learn to play good music in a professional manner. It is my intention to make rehearsal procedures, conduct regulations, and other requirements known to all members of the ensemble so that they will understand the kind of behaviour that is expected of them. Both students and the director have the right to perform in a well disciplined, respectful ensemble.

Rehearsal Procedures

- Warm-up: students should warm their instruments quietly at the beginning of each rehearsal.
- Self-discipline and respect: No talking or "noodling" when the director is talking or demonstrating something. Never talk while the ensemble is playing.
- Neatness: Keep the music room neat and clean. Deposit all garbage in one of the garbage cans provided.
- Listen: Always listen to yourself and others while you are playing so that your tone will be beautiful in quality and well in tune.
- Practice at home: Always work out individual parts in private practice sessions. Ensemble rehearsals should be devoted entirely to acquiring musicianship and artistry. Make sure you are always striving for an outstanding performance.

Attendance

A note from home is required for any absence, including both illness and school activities. The note must include the date and reason for absence. Any unexcused absences will result in a loss of 2% from your participation mark, for each one unaccounted for. You will not be hounded for absence notes. If you have to be absent from a class for sports or at the request of another teacher, you must speak to me first. Participation through regular attendance is essential. All courses, whether on the timetable or not, are credit courses and will be graded. Concerts are considered term finals even though they occur in the evenings (as well as school times and afternoons). Attendance for the entire concert is mandatory except in the case of bereavement or serious illness/injury. Concert dates are listed below. In the event of a conflict, we can try to remedy the problem but I require plenty of notice.

Concert Dates

Tuesday, November 2, 2021 and Tuesday, January 18, 2022. Both concerts start at 6:30pm in the Byng Theatre.

Punctuality

Students are expected to arrive on time. Arriving late is extremely disruptive to the entire class as the student must find his/her own chair amongst those students already playing. 1% will be given for promptness and participation in the entire warmup for each class. Bonus marks will be given to those who are on time for all classes.

Assignments

It is your responsibility to practice the work assigned by the director outside of class time. It is suggested that 1 hour (or more) a day be set aside for this purpose. Not all of this time needs to be playing the instrument. Reading and theory exercises can be included in this time. Students will be observed and graded in class to see whether or not they have been practicing the correct material.
